iPod accessories set to revolutionise the home music scene

A few years back, Apple revolutionised the way we listened to music with the release of the iPod. Since then, iPods have slowly crept into peoples' pockets all across the globe. The device itself has got smaller, its memory has got bigger, and now the iPod is starting to leave pockets and make themselves useful in our home, cars, and even at an outdoor barbecue.

Grundig is about to breathe new life into the way we use iPods. Renowned for its sleek, unique European styling and excellent sound systems, Grundig is set to launch its maiden iPod accessories.

At the top of the range is the Grundig iPod Music Station (CDS2500IP rrp$249) which boasts a universal iPod dock which recharges the iPod when in the docking station. The CDS2500IP delivers utterly superb sound with 2 x 5watts stereo output, a massive 20watt subwoofer and a top-loading CD player with LCD display. Grundig's new exciting product comes complete with an FM/AM Digital tuner with clock display and sleep timer and alarm function. Wake up by CD, radio or iPod. All functions can all be conveniently accessed by the remote control. Available from September this year, Grundig's iPod Music Station CDS2500IP is sure to be snapped up by Australia's music lovers. (Available: October 2007)

Defying its compact size, the soon-to-be-launched Grundig's Clock Radio with iPod docking station (GCR001IP – rrp: $115) features FM/AM radio with full interface for the iPod family boasting six inserts and with 2 x 3watts speaker output this compact device delivers exceptional sound quality. Wake up to your iPod, radio or buzzer with a dual alarm clock or hook it up to your home stereo with the stereo line out. The remote control adds to the comfort and convenience of finding your favourite song. With a recommended retail price of just $115, the GCR001IP Clock Radio with iPod docking station is the perfect way to share your personalised iPod with everyone else in the room. (Available: Late September 2007)

Not to be left out, audio clubbers Ministry of Sound (MOS) also has two new iPod products about to burst onto the music scene.

The MOSAS079 includes an iPod speaker dock, FM/AM tuner and video output function which allows you to connect the unit to your TV and watch videos playing from your iPod. This universal iPod dock is complete with nine iPod cradles. It's brilliant sound quality 2 x 8 RMS speaker output with Mbass function. The MOSAS079 has an auxiliary in function for playback CD and MP3 or playback MP3 through the USB socket. Remote control included. Compact in size and price, for just $149 this new MOSAS079 makes it possible for those on a budget to have it all. (Available: NOW)

Also soon-to-be-released from Ministry is the MOSMC130IP with 2 x 10watts RMS speaker output to pump out club-like sound. CD/CDR/CDRW/WMA and MP3 compatible, this sound system – complete with an iPod docking station – has a USB and SD card slot and 5 preset EQ function. FM/AM PLL tuner on board. For $199 the MOSMC130IP offers top-of-line qualities for a fraction of the price. (Available: Late October 2007)
